VOCATIONAL EDUCATION AND TRAINING

A Complete Education and Training Program on Vocational Courses

Centre for Human Resource Development (CHRD) is an autonomous Institute registered under Indian Trust Act 1882 and Ministry of MSME, Govt of India

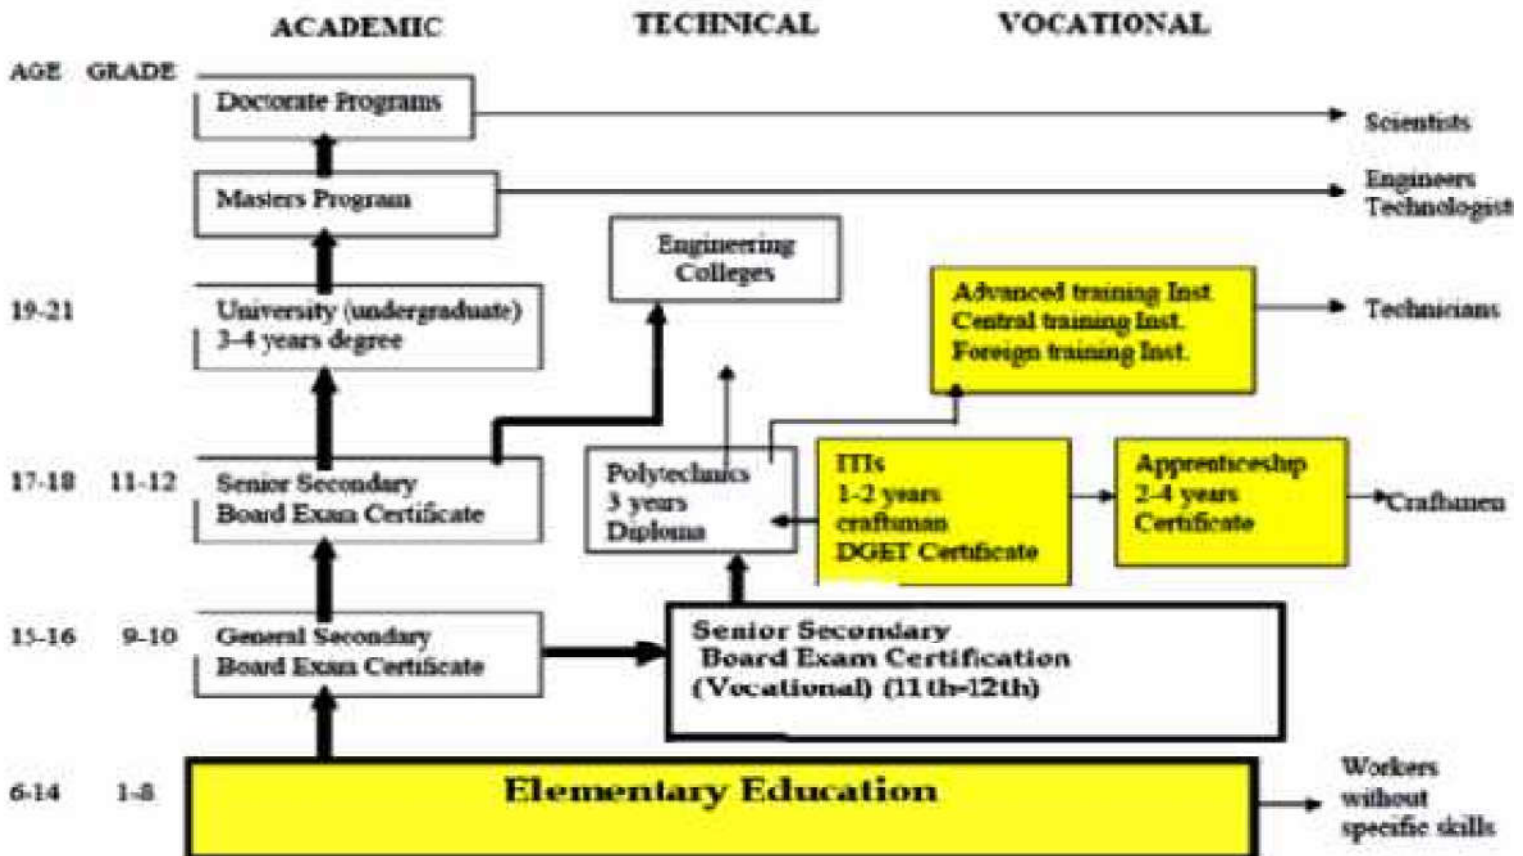

INTRODUCTION

Centre for Human Resource Development (CHRD) is a Govt. of India registered Trust dealing with Entrepreneurship development and Vocational Education and Training VET which are important elements of the nation's education/Entrepreneurship initiative. In order for Vocational Education to play its part effectively in the changing national context and for India to enjoy the fruits of the demographic dividend, there is an urgent need to redefine the critical elements of imparting vocational education and training to make them flexible, contemporary, relevant, inclusive and creative. The Government is well aware of the important role of Vocational education and has already taken a number of important initiatives in this area.

The objective of this note is to assess and describe the need for introducing Vocational education at higher and tertiary levels and for establishing a Vocational University. The note also summarizes the present Indian and International Vocational Education scenario and its problems. The note also puts up recommendation for policies with the need for implementation at State and National Level and suggests possible models to introduce Vocational Education at the higher / tertiary levels.

Current Scenario of Vocational Education and Training in India

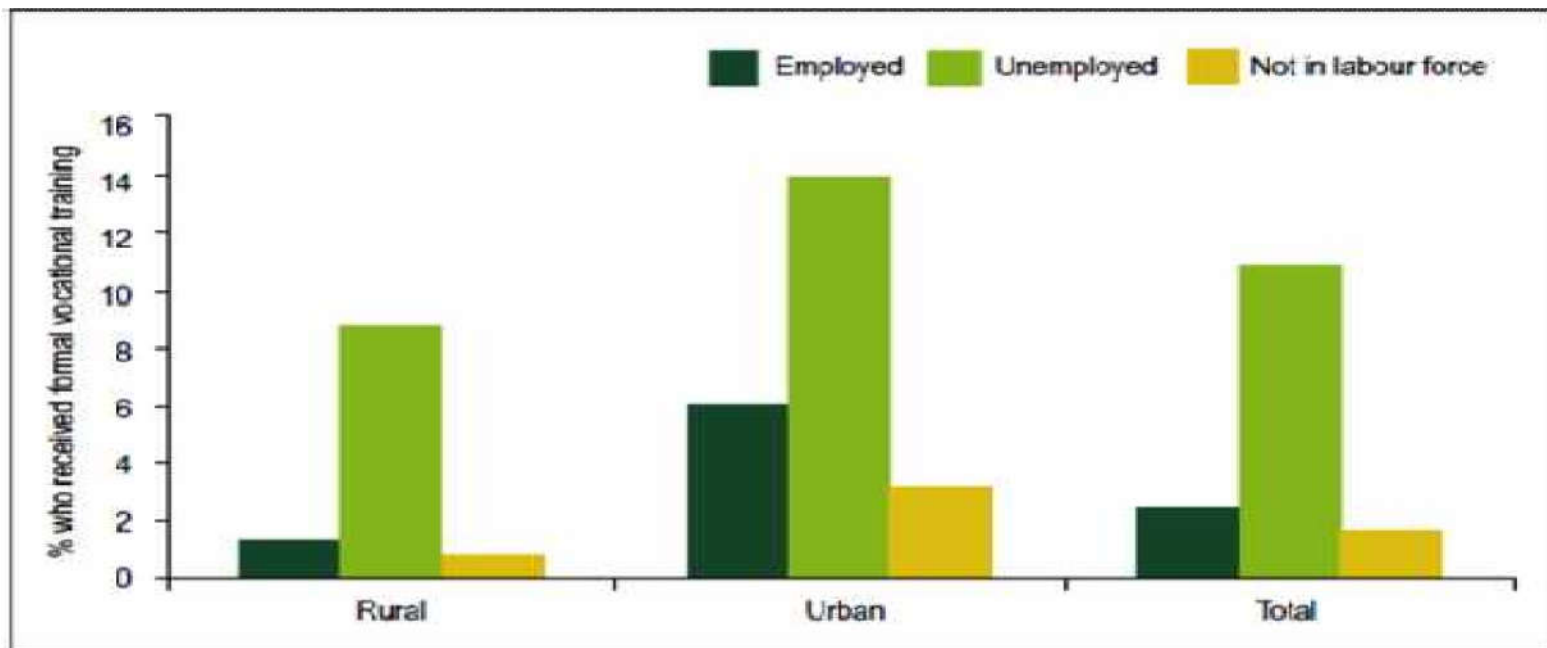

The structure of current education system can be described as below:-

In India, skill acquisition takes place through two basic structural streams – a small formal one and a large informal one. Details of major formal sources are listed in table below:-

Type of Source	Institute	Capacity	Quantity
Mainstream education system	Centrally Sponsored Scheme of Vocationalisation of Secondary Education run by the Ministry of Human Resource Development	Enrolling less than three per cent of students at the upper secondary level	9,583 schools offering about 150 educational courses of two years duration
Training institutions outside the school and university systems	Industrial Training Institutes (ITIs) and Industrial Training Centres (ITCs)	Total seating capacity of 7.85 lakh	5488 public (ITI) and private (ITC) institutions imparting VET, of which 1922 are ITIs and 3566 are ITCs.
Diploma level	Polytechnics	1,244 polytechnics run by MHRD with a capacity of over 2.95 lakhs	1,747 AICTE approved diploma programs with 294,370 seats

Status of Vocational Training received: The World Bank report of 2006, shows that among persons of age 15-29 only about 2 per cent reported to have received formal vocational training and another 8 per cent reported to have received non formal vocational training. The proportion of persons (15-29 years) who received formal vocational training was the highest among the unemployed. The proportion was around 3 per cent for the employed, 11 percent for the unemployed and 2 per cent for persons not in the labour force. The activity of persons receiving vocational education is as shown below:-

Comparison with other Countries: There is little capacity in vocational education in India and even that is under-utilized. World Bank Report suggests that the enrolment figure is less than three per cent of the students attending Grades 11-12. This implies that between 350,000 to 400,000 students are enrolled in vocational education, which works out to less than three per cent of the 14 million students or more in Grades 11 and 12, implying that less than one per cent of students who had entered Grade 1 over the last decade or so would have eventually participated in vocational education. In comparison the status in various other countries is as shown below-:

Country	Secondary enrolment ratio	Number of students (thousands)	Vocational-technical share (per cent of total secondary enrolments)
Russia	88	6277	60
China	52	15300	55
Chile	70	652	40
Indonesia	43	4109	33
Korea	93	2060	31
Mexico	58	-	12
Malaysia	59	533	11
South Africa	77	-	1

Through, the study of the prevalent Vocational Education System in India the following problem areas have been identified.

Proposed Education Model for India

Based on the comparison of various education models across the world, the following education model is recommended for us-:

PROPOSED VOCATIONAL FRAMEWORK FOR INDIA

d) enhancing efficiency and productivity of TVET providers

National Vocational Education Policy

CHRD is Vocational Training wing of National Institute of Computer Studies web: www.nicseducation.in

2. A National Vocational Policy should be formulated. The policy should establish equivalence for degrees, diplomas and certifications in the vocational education sector for lateral and vertical mobility across various learning sectors that is, secondary, vocational and higher education.

National Vocational Education Assessment and Accreditation Council

3. National Vocational Assessment & Accreditation Council should be established to formulate a regulatory and quality/standards framework.

Introduction of SSC (Vocational)

4. SSC (vocational) or its equivalent 10th grade certification in vocational stream should be created on similar lines as HSC (Vocational) at both national and state level. Vocational Stream should be introduced at 8th Grade through Bivalent Schools which may provide both conventional and vocational stream of education at secondary level. Presently, in India only sporadic courses as electives are being offered to students under bifocal scheme. However, a separate vocational stream offered by means of bivalent schools does not exist. Statistics reveal that employers prefer students with some general education skills in addition to vocational skills. Thus, in all schemes related to SSC (Vocational) general education courses should be emphasized. Eg. Problem Solving, English, Soft Skills, Business Management etc

For Eg, In China, there are three levels of vocational education: junior secondary, senior secondary and tertiary. Junior vocational education refers to the vocational and technical education after primary school education and is a part of the 9-year compulsory education i.e from age group of 13-15 years.
